75TH ANNIVERSARY

REMEMBER

- To commemorate the 75th anniversary of VE Day, design a commemorative tea towel about the end of WWII in Europe.
- Children could also design a commemorative coin, plate or stamp. The Spitfire was a sign of victory.
- Using recycled materials from around the home, make a model of this plane. The RAF Museum website may help.
 - Learn about courage by listening to this abridged version of The Lion and
- Why is VE Day so important? Children the Unicorn. could use websites and books to research or speak to older relatives. Children can write a newspaper report recounting the events from 8th May 1945.

HEROES & HEROINES

- Countless men, women and even animals showed acts of heroism during WWII. Starting with animals, children could look at the PDSA Dickin medal and design their own version of this award.
- Colonel Tom Moore is a former British Army officer who has raised millions for the NHS. Why not create a family photo saluting him or children could write him a letter, thanking him for all he has done for his country.
- Create a fact file about the man who helped to break the German Enigma code, Alan Turing or Mavis Batey, one of the leading female codebreakers at Bletchley Park.
- Children could listen to and recreate their own version of Winston Churchill's VE Day speech.
- Irena Sendler, a Polish social worker saved 2,500 Jewish children during WWII. After researching her life, children can write a diary entry based on a day in her life.
- Havildar Lachhiman Gurung won the Victoria Cross while serving with the Gurkha Rifles in Burmna in 1945. Ask your child to write a biography about this courageous man.

INSPIRATION

- Throughout WWII, many men and women displayed heroic acts and still inspire us today. Children may want to design a bravery medal for an inspirational individual.
- Why did St Paul's Cathedral become an inspiration to the British during WWII? Research and then draw a detailed sketch of this remarkable building.
- Children can write an acrostic poem using the letters VE DAY as a writing frame.
- Using the Morse code alphabet, children could have fun writing messages of gratitude to WWII heroes and heroines.
- Learn how to make a sling or put somebody in the recovery position (an important skill to have during the war).

THEN AND NOW

- Ask your child to imagine that they're being evacuated. What would they pack? Draw and label essential items and then design a luggage
- Your child could write a postcard to a family member about VE Day anniversary celebrations today, or imagining that they are celebrating VE Day in 1945.
- Find out what happened in the local area on VE Day. How will this be different today? Why?
- What does peace look like? Task your child with creating a poster illustrating their ideas for peace. Comparing war time to what we are experiencing now (pandemic), are there any similarities and differences? Your child could present their findings

LET'S CELEBRATE

- Wear red, white and blue to mark this special
- Create VE Day bunting and display this in your
- Williauw or garden.

 Learn the popular WWII song White Cliffs of Dover' and perform this as a family. Or, listen and dance to 1940s music.
- Children may wish to plan a VE Day anniversary celebration party. This could include wartime recipes and is an opportunity to discuss
- Princess Elizabeth (then) and Princess Margaret secretly joined in with the VE Day celebrations in 1945. Write a story about her experience.
- Sit down and watch the Queen's special televised address to the nation on Friday 8th May 2020.
